OB Anesthesia Fellows Virtual Grand Rounds

Online
Nov 9th
2016

Kathleen A. Smith, MD

Associate Professor of Anesthesiology and Obstetrics and Gynecology
University of North Carolina

Expectant Management of the Preeclamptic Patient

The obstetric anesthesiologist's involvement in the care of preeclamptic patients primarily centers around the time period of expectant management and eventual delivery. In light of rising maternal morbidity and mortality in the U.S., we must approach our care of these high risk patients with the goal of reducing potential adverse outcomes.
